

國立臺中第一高級中學 105 學年度科學班甄選入學
語文能力評量(英語) 試題卷

一、詞彙 (占 10 分)

說明：第1題至第10題，每題有4個選項，其中只有一個是正確或最適當的選項，請畫記在答案卡。各題答對者，得1分；答錯、未作答或畫記多於一個選項者，該題以零分計算。

- To drive consumers to purchase products, most TV advertisements are designed with _____ slogans and touching stories.
(A) certain (B) catchy (C) risky (D) tough
- Though John and Ben haven't seen each other for five years, they still stay in _____ through Facebook every now and then.
(A) denial (B) touch (C) try (D) response
- The actress challenged the _____ that aging is inevitable. She tried everything possible to avoid looking old.
(A) proposal (B) comment (C) notion (D) suggestion
- WikiLeaks was _____ in 2006. Its goal was to bring attention to documents from news leaks and anonymous submissions, many of which might normally have gone unnoticed.
(A) launched (B) consumed (C) emitted (D) boosted
- Doris was born with a silver spoon in her mouth; she has never _____ financial difficulties during her life time.
(A) released (B) halted (C) scored (D) experienced
- Alcoholism is a potentially _____ condition, which causes severe damage to a drinker's body.
(A) fatal (B) sensible (C) bizarre (D) transparent
- The chemical factory was accused of discharging _____ material into the river; thus, it was forced to shut down.
(A) useful (B) luxury (C) waste (D) organic
- Economic development may cause the destruction of wildlife _____, which makes many animals lose their natural home.
(A) concerns (B) habitats (C) features (D) residents
- "Hello" is a powerful word with a spiritual _____ because it provides people with a mechanism to start new relationships.
(A) statue (B) motion (C) range (D) value
- It is said that the old house is haunted by ghosts. No wonder it has _____ empty for so many years despite the beautiful view it commands.
(A) contained (B) obtained (C) remained (D) sustained

二、綜合測驗 (占 20 分)

說明：第11題至第30題，每題一個空格，請依文意選出最適當的一個選項，請畫記在答案卡。各題答對者，得1分；答錯、未作答或畫記多於一個選項者，該題以零分計算。

第 11 至 15 題為題組

Owls are famous for being able to turn their heads extremely far in either direction. Can you do that? Humans have seven bones in their necks. This helps __11__ the head and allows the neck to stay straight. Owls have fourteen! This makes an owl's neck much more flexible than a human's neck. With __12__ bones, owls can turn their necks 270 degrees. That is more than half way around! They can also look completely over each shoulder. Humans, in __13__, can only turn their necks 180 degrees.

Owls need to see what is around them and they need to protect themselves from danger. __14__, owls do not have muscles in their eyes like humans and most animals. They cannot roll their eyes and see in different directions __15__ moving their heads. Therefore, it is extremely important that owls can turn their necks as far as they do.

- | | | | |
|--------------------|-----------------|-----------------|---------------|
| 11. (A) carry on | (B) make up | (C) focus on | (D) hold up |
| 12. (A) extra | (B) stiff | (C) limitless | (D) rusty |
| 13. (A) population | (B) realization | (C) comparison | (D) addition |
| 14. (A) As usual | (B) However | (C) For example | (D) Therefore |
| 15. (A) besides | (B) without | (C) from | (D) despite |

第 16 至 20 題為題組

The Little Prince, the most read book in France, was first published in 1943 by a French writer named Antoine de Saint-Exupery. It __16__ translated into more than 250 languages since then and is sold around the world. With over a million copies sold each year, The Little Prince has been one of the best-__17__ books of all time. Over the years, people have enjoyed the little book in various __18__. It can be read as a book, seen in the theater as a ballet, or listened to as a recording.

The Little Prince is considered to be a novella, which is shorter than a novel __19__ longer than a short story. A novella has between 10,000 and 70,000 words. The conflicts in a novella are not necessarily less difficult than __20__ in a novel. In the case of The Little Prince, it deals with the conflicts in friendship, love, loss, and loneliness.

- | | | | |
|------------------|--------------|---------------|--------------|
| 16. (A) was | (B) had been | (C) is | (D) has been |
| 17. (A) sell | (B) selling | (C) sale | (D) sold |
| 18. (A) contents | (B) prices | (C) locations | (D) forms |
| 19. (A) also | (B) or | (C) but | (D) as |
| 20. (A) those | (B) them | (C) which | (D) what |

第 21 至 25 題為題組

An ice cap is a huge mass of ice that covers less than 50,000 km² of land. __21__ there is more than 50,000 km² of land covered by ice, it is classified as an ice sheet. These ice masses can be found over water in the North Pole, parts of Iceland, and in Greenland and Antarctica. As the earth is warming up, scientists believe that this climate change is dramatically __22__ the ice caps and ice sheets.

If these ice masses continue to melt, the sea level will rise, __23__ flooding along coastal areas. If the ice caps no longer exist, the earth will not be capable of reflecting the sun's rays off the ice caps, which will make the earth much warmer. The animals that live in these polar areas will be in danger and may even __24__ extinct. However, as the effects of melting ice caps manifest themselves over generations __25__ weeks or months, we may not witness any of them happening in our lifetime.

21. (A) Because (B) If (C) Although (D) Unless
22. (A) affecting (B) concerning (C) suffering (D) collapsing
23. (A) causes (B) caused (C) to cause (D) causing
24. (A) make (B) die (C) go (D) keep
25. (A) as well as (B) rather than (C) in terms of (D) as long as

第 26 至 30 題為題組

Many people give up their spare time to help others. Whether it's helping out in an old people's home, a homeless shelter or a charity shop, every moment they spend is __26__ great importance to someone in need.

__27__ it might sound difficult or inconvenient, volunteering isn't hard to do. Any amount of your time, no matter how small, will be appreciated. And the skills you __28__ in the process will serve you throughout your life. The more you put in, the more you'll eventually get back.

Volunteering doesn't have to happen close to home, either. There are tons of opportunities __29__ to do some good and get some amazing life experience at the same time. Why not volunteer at a panda sanctuary in China, or teach at a school in a poor area in India? There is no limit to the __30__ of causes that need willing helpers to chip in. So get out there and lend a hand!

26. (A) of (B) so (C) in (D) with
27. (A) Since (B) Unless (C) Once (D) Though
28. (A) take over (B) pick up (C) give in (D) turn down
29. (A) nearly (B) aboard (C) nearby (D) abroad
30. (A) amount (B) donation (C) number (D) reason

三、文意選填 (占 30 分)

說明：第31題至第45題，每題一個空格，請依文意在文章後所提供選項中分別選出最適當者，並將其英文字母代號畫記在答案卡（雙字母的選項請劃記兩個字母）。各題答對者，得2分；答錯、未作答或畫記多於一個選項者，該題以零分計算。

第 31 至 40 題為題組

(A) appeal	(B) choose	(C) filled	(D) in	(E) increase
(AB) move	(AC) represent	(AD) unlike	(AE) what	(BC) with

How men first learned to invent words is unknown; in other words, the origin of language is a mystery. All we really know is that __31__ animals, men somehow invented certain sounds to express thoughts and feelings, actions and things. Gradually, they could communicate __32__ each other. Later, they agreed upon certain signs, called letters, which could be combined to __33__ those sounds, and which could be written down. Those sounds, whether spoken or written in letters, are called words.

The power of words lies __34__ their associations with the things they bring up before our minds. Words become __35__ with meaning for us by experience. That is, the longer we live, the more certain words recall to us the glad and sad events of our past. Besides, the more we read and learn, the more words that mean something to us __36__.

Great writers are those who not only have great thoughts but also express these thoughts in words which __37__ powerfully to our minds and emotions. This charming and telling use of words is __38__ we call literary style. Above all, the real poet is a master of words. He can convey his meaning in words which sing like music, and which by their position and association can __39__ men to tears. We should therefore learn to __40__ our words carefully and use them accurately, or they will make our speech silly and vulgar.

第 41 至 45 題為題組

(A) direct	(B) expensive	(C) loose	(D) positive
(E) protect	(AB) rid	(AC) species	(AD) survive

When it comes to cockroaches, most people think of them as very dirty, disgusting by nature. They don't like roaches to "wander" around the house. A new product is being sold to get __41__ of cockroaches. The product does not come in a box or can. It is alive. The new product is a(n) __42__ of lizard called a gecko. Geckos eat roaches. One gecko can eat up to two dozen roaches every day. That is the __43__ side to owning geckos. There is also a negative side to owning geckos. For one thing, geckos will bite people. They won't kill anyone, but their bite can hurt. For another, geckos are hard to capture once they are set __44__ in a house. They run behind curtains or under furniture. They run on walls or ceilings. They can annoy people in a house almost as much as roaches do. Geckos are used to a warm climate. They cannot __45__ in a cold home. So people who own geckos have to be careful when they open their windows and doors in the winter.

四、篇章結構 (占 10 分)

說明：第46題至第50題，每題一個空格，請依文意在文章後所提供選項中分別選出最適當者，填入空格中，使篇章結構清晰有條理，並將其英文字母代號畫記在答案卡 (雙字母的選項請劃記兩個字母)。各題答對者，得2分；答錯、未作答或畫記多於一個選項者，該題以零分計算。

第 46 至 50 題為題組

Many people dream about having a lot of money all of a sudden. That is what happened to Henry, living in Taichung. As a result of the earthquake occurring in 1999, a member of his family died and left him more than ten million dollars. The money was in $1000 bills. __46__ He put it in a metal box in the basement of his house.

Henry spent about half of the money on his construction business. He left the rest in the basement. __47__ The typhoon of the year 2004 brought heavy rain to Taichung. The basement was flooded with water. Henry opened the metal box to check on his money. He was too late. The money looked ruined. __48__ When Henry tried to pick up the bills, they would break into pieces. The only thing he could do was to dry the money out. __49__ He blew air over them with a hair dryer. He also worked on taping some pieces of bills together.

Finally, he took the torn, damaged bills to the Bank of Taiwan to replace them with new ones. __50__ He got much less than the amount, however. Since most of the bills were in tiny bits and pieces, no one could tell how much money was really in the box. And Henry had no way to prove his story.

- (A) Then his trouble began.
- (B) So Henry put the bills on a warm radiator.
- (C) He couldn't be too careful saving the money.
- (D) The bills had turned into a soggy mass of paper.
- (E) Henry thought he had a safe place for all that money.
- (AB) He demanded ten million dollars in new bills right away.

五、閱讀測驗 (占 30 分)

說明：第51題至第60題，每題請分別根據各篇文章之文意選出最適當的一個選項，請畫記在答案卡。各題答對者，得3分；答錯、未作答或畫記多於一個選項者，該題以零分計算。

第 51 至 53 題為題組

The European Parliament's Secretary General, Klaus Welle, has urged Euro politicians to speak more slowly and to stick to their native language instead of using English. This is to help the hundreds of interpreters who work at the institution. Mr. Welle said many interpreters were encountering difficulties doing their job. He said: "It's extremely important that people do not speak too fast." He asked politicians not to use English if it was not their native language as this complicates things for the translators. He added: "It's also extremely important for interpreters that people speak their own language. If the politicians speak a foreign language, the quality of interpretation goes down."

There are 24 official languages spoken at the European Parliament. The most recent additions are Croatian, Irish, Bulgarian and Romanian. A small army of 330 interpreters is employed to ensure everyone understands each other. The parliament employs an additional 1,800 freelancers. It also has about 700 translators, who translate over 100,000 pages each month. If everyone followed Mr. Welle's request, only politicians from the UK would be allowed to speak English, even though many members are multi-lingual. Many prefer to speak in English to avoid the confusion of having several simultaneous interpreters. The parliament's annual budget for interpreters is $50 million.

51. Based on the passage, what is the purpose of Mr. Welle's request?
- (A) To ease the burden on the interpreters.
 - (B) To handle complaints from the politicians.
 - (C) To cut down the annual budget for translation service.
 - (D) To discourage the politicians from using their native languages.
52. What language does Mr. Welle expect the Slovenian politician to use?
- (A) English.
 - (B) Bulgarian.
 - (C) His or her native language.
 - (D) Any one of the 24 official languages.
53. Why do many Euro politicians choose to speak in English?
- (A) They are multi-lingual and can do without the service of interpreters.
 - (B) Translated through several languages, a message may become unclear.
 - (C) They are considerate of the translators and want to make their job easier.
 - (D) They have limited budget and cannot afford to employ simultaneous interpreters.

第 54 至 56 題為題組

A man in Britain can see again because of a new bionic eye. Ray Flynn, 80, became the first patient in the world to get the new device, which is an artificial retina. Mr. Flynn suffers from a condition called age-related macular degeneration (AMD). This is one of the most common problems with eyesight around the world. Flynn started losing his sight ten years ago. Doctors told him eight years ago that he had AMD. From that time, his sight became worse and worse. It became so bad that he could only see things out of the corners of his eyes. Everything in the center of his eyes was blurred and he could not see shapes properly. He said that even looking at simple things made him very tired.

Mr. Flynn's bionic eye cost $125,000. Britain's national health service hopes the cost of the operation will come down. This means many more people will be able to have the operation for free. Flynn had the surgery last month. Doctors spent four hours putting a microchip in the back of his eye. Doctors are very happy with the operation, which they said was a success. Flynn can now read a newspaper and admire the flowers in his garden for the first time in many years. His doctor, Professor Paulo Stanga, said: "Mr. Flynn's progress is truly remarkable. He is seeing the outline of people and objects very effectively." Professor Stanga hopes scientists can also help people who have been blind from birth.

54. What is the main idea of the passage?

- (A) Britain has the most advanced research on artificial eyes.
- (B) Modern medical development can help the blind restore their sight.
- (C) Bionic eye operations will soon become free for all British citizens.
- (D) People suffering from AMD now have a way to see the world again.

55. Why had Ray Flynn begun to lose his sight?

- (A) Doctors implanted a microchip in his eyes.
- (B) He overused his eyes by reading newspapers.
- (C) As he got older, his retina lost the ability to function.
- (D) He had the habit of seeing things out of the corners of his eyes.

56. Based on the passage, which of the following statements is TRUE?

- (A) It took eight years for doctors to find out that Flynn had AMD.
- (B) After the operation, Flynn can only see the outline of people and things.
- (C) Currently, not many people can afford to undergo the surgery Flynn did.
- (D) Professor Stanga had developed the bionic eye to help people who were born blind.

第 57 至 60 題為題組

According to a new study on eyelash aerodynamics, eyelashes do not only enhance the looks of a person but they also protect the eye from infections and keep it from drying out. The study was conducted on more than 20 mammals, but researchers claimed that the findings are relevant to humans as well. Scientists found that a certain length of one's lashes can diminish the evaporation of the eye by up to 50 percent. Eyelashes also cut to half the microscopic debris and airborne bacteria that try to reach the surface of the eye.

Mr. Hu at the Georgia Institute of Technology was inspired to start the new research by his newborn baby girl's astonishing eyelashes. Such a minor detail has driven him to find the final purpose of human lashes by checking the animals that are equipped with eyelashes. Therefore, he enlisted graduate students in his biomechanics lab and colleagues to join the investigation.

For their research, scientists first measured the eyelashes found on 22 mammals. To their surprise, they found that nearly all animal eyelashes were one-third of their eye's width. They also checked previous data on human lashes and learned that humans follow the rule, too. On a second phase of the research, the team designed a dish-sized artificial eye protected by an artificial set of eyelashes, while exposing the "eye" to the airflow provided by a small desktop fan. Soon afterward, scientists calculated the evaporation rate and amount of water that was evaporating from the artificial eye, as well as the amount of tiny debris that made it onto the surface of the eye.

Scientists learned that the optimal eyelash length to keep to a minimum the evaporation and bacteria contamination was one-third the size of the eye. Surprisingly, longer eyelashes were not better at preventing water from evaporating; they actually funneled more air toward the eye's surface. The team suggested that their discovery may have even practical applications such as equipping solar panels with eyelash-like protections that could keep dust and other particles from depositing onto their surface.

57. It is most likely that the passage appears in a _____.

- (A) map (B) recipe (C) journal (D) dictionary

58. For what purpose did Mr. Hu conduct the study on eyelashes?

- (A) To satisfy his curiosity. (B) To improve human looks.
- (C) To advance space technology. (D) To provide warnings for false lash wearers.

59. Helen, with 24mm-wide eyes, wants to buy false eyelashes. What is the best choice for her based on the study?

- (A) 4 mm long. (B) 8 mm long. (C) 12 mm long. (D) 16 mm long.

60. According to the passage, which of the following statements is TRUE?

- (A) For ultimate beauty, women may choose to lengthen their eyelashes.
- (B) Human eyelashes are shorter than those of mammals.
- (C) The longer eyelashes are, the more dust they prevent.
- (D) Eyelashes play a vital role in keeping eyes moist.

* 試題結束 *